Management's responsibility for the interim condensed separate financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and presentation of these interim condensed separate financial statements in accordance with Korean International Financial Reporting Standard ("K-IFRS") 1034 Interim Financial Reporting, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of interim condensed separate financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on these interim condensed separate financial statements based on our review.

We conducted our review in accordance with the review standards for interim financial statements in the Republic of Korea. A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Korean Standards on Auditing ("KSAs"), and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the accompanying interim condensed separate financial statements are not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with K-IFRS 1034 Interim Financial Reporting.

Deloitte refers to one or more of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited, a UK private company limited by guarantee ("DTTL"), its network of member firms, and their related entities. 2. BASIS OF PREPARATION AND MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

2.1 Basis of Preparation

The Company's interim condensed separate financial statements were prepared in accordance with Korean International Financial Reporting Standard ("K-IFRS") 1034 Interim Financial Reporting as part of the period covered by the Company's K-IFRSs' annual separate financial statements, and these are separate financial statements prepared in accordance with K-IFRS 1027 Separate Financial Statements. In order to be understood, these interim condensed separate financial statements should be read in conjunction with the annual separate financial statements as of and for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2025, prepared in accordance with the K-IFRSs.

2.2 Application of the Amended and Enacted Standards

The material accounting policies applied in the preparation of the interim condensed separate financial statements are consistent with the accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the annual separate financial statements as of and for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2025, except for the impacts related to the adoption of the standards or interpretations described below.

1) New and amended K-IFRSs and new interpretations that are effective for the current period

- K-IFRS 1109 Financial Instruments and K-IFRS 1107 Financial Instruments: Disclosures – Amendments to Classification and Measurement Requirements of Financial Instruments

The amendments in Amendments to the Classification and Measurement of Financial Instruments (Amendments to K-IFRS 1109 and K-IFRS 1107) are:

Derecognition of a financial liability settled through electronic transfer
The amendments permit an entity to deem a financial liability (or part of a financial liability) that is settled using an electronic payment system to be discharged (and derecognized) before the settlement date if specified criteria are met. The Company does not use electronic payment systems that are subject to the amendments and, therefore, the amendments do not have an impact on the interim condensed separate financial statements.

Classification of financial assets

- Contractual terms that are consistent with a basic lending arrangement.
  The amendments provide guidance on how an entity should assess whether contractual cash flows of a financial asset are consistent with a basic lending arrangement. This is intended to assist an entity to apply the requirements for assessing contractual cash flow characteristics to financial assets with features linked to environmental, social and governance ("ESG") concerns.
- Assets with non-recourse features.
  The amendments enhance the description of the term 'non-recourse,' in particular to specify that a financial asset has non-recourse features if an entity's ultimate right to receive cash flows is contractually limited to the cash flows generated by specified assets.
- Contractually linked instruments.
  The amendments clarify the characteristics of contractually linked instruments that distinguish them from other transactions. Specifically, the amendments highlight that in such instruments a prioritization of payments to the holders of financial assets using multiple contractually linked instruments (tranches) is established through a waterfall payment structure, resulting in concentrations of credit risk and a disproportionate allocation of losses between the holders of different tranches. The amendments also note that not all transactions with multiple debt instruments meet the criteria of transactions with multiple contractually linked instruments. In addition, the amendments clarify that the reference to instruments in the underlying pool can include financial instruments that are not within the scope of the classification requirements.

Disclosures

- Investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income ("FVOCI").
  The requirements in K-IFRS 1107 are amended to require an entity to disclose the fair value gain or loss presented in other comprehensive income during the period, showing separately the fair value gain or loss that relates to investments derecognized in the period and the fair value gain or loss that relates to investments held at the end of the period.
- Contractual terms that could change the timing or amount of contractual cash flows.
  The amendments require an entity to disclose the contractual terms that could change the timing or amount of contractual cash flows on the occurrence (or non-occurrence) of a contingent event that does not relate directly to changes in basic lending risks and costs. The requirements apply to each class of financial asset measured at amortized cost or FVOCI and each class of financial liability measured at amortized cost.

- K-IFRS 1109 Financial Instruments—Derecognition of Lease Liabilities and Transaction Price

The amendments clarify that any gain or loss arising from the derecognition of lease liabilities should be recognized in profit or loss. The amendments also align the definition of transaction price with K-IFRS 1115.

- Amendments to K-IFRS 1109 and K-IFRS 1107—Contracts Referencing Nature-Dependent Electricity

Amendments to K-IFRS 1109 Financial Instruments
The following requirements of K-IFRS 1109 are affected by the amendments:

- The own-use requirements in K-IFRS 1109 are amended to include the factors an entity is required to consider when applying K-IFRS 1109:2.4 to contracts to buy and take delivery of renewable electricity for which the source of production of the electricity is nature-dependent; and
- The hedge accounting requirements in K-IFRS 1109 are amended to permit an entity using a contract for nature-dependent renewable electricity with specified characteristics as a hedging instrument:
  - to designate a variable volume of forecast electricity transactions as the hedged item if specified criteria are met; and
  - to measure the hedged item using the same volume assumptions as those used for the hedging instrument.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1107 Financial Instruments: Disclosures
K-IFRS 1107 was amended to introduce disclosure requirements about contracts for nature-dependent electricity with specified characteristics.

2) New and revised K-IFRSs in issue, but not yet effective

- K-IFRS 1118 Presentation and Disclosures in Financial Statements

K-IFRS 1118 replaces K-IFRS 1001, carrying forward many of the requirements in K-IFRS 1001 unchanged and complementing them with new requirements. K-IFRS 1118 is expected to enhance the comparability of financial performance among similar entities by providing users of financial statements with information that is useful in analyzing and comparing an entity's performance, with a particular focus on the statement of profit or loss.

When the Company prepares its financial statements by applying K-IFRS 1118, the principal accounting policy changes that may result in significant differences from the current financial statements are as follows. These matters do not include all differences that may arise in the future and may be subject to change based on the results of additional analysis.

- Changes in the presentation of the statement of profit or loss.
  K-IFRS 1118 requires all income and expenses included in the statement of profit or loss to be classified into one of five categories: operating, investing, financing, income taxes and discontinued operations. Under K-IFRS 1118, all income and expenses that are not classified in the investing, financing, income taxes or discontinued operations categories are classified in the operating category, and operating profit is defined as a residual category.
  The Company is required to assess its main business activities in order to classify income and expenses into the appropriate categories. If the Company determines that investing in particular types of assets or providing financing to customers is a main business activity, income and expenses that would otherwise be classified in the investing or financing categories are classified instead in the operating category.

  Accordingly, operating profit or loss under K-IFRS 1118 may differ significantly from operating profit or loss under the current K-IFRS 1001, which is defined as revenue less cost of sales and selling and administrative expenses. K-IFRS 1118 requires an entity to disclose operating profit or loss determined in accordance with the current K-IFRS 1001 in the notes, together with a reconciliation between operating profit or loss under K-IFRS 1118 and that under the current K-IFRS 1001.

In addition, K-IFRS 1118 requires an entity to present in the statement of profit or loss: 'operating profit or loss', comprising all income and expenses classified in the operating category; 'profit or loss before financing and income taxes', comprising operating profit or loss and all income and expenses classified in the investing category; and 'profit or loss' for the period. However, if the Company provides financing to customers as a main business activity, presentation of profit or loss before financing and income taxes may not be required depending on the accounting policy choice.

- Introduction of disclosures for management-defined performance measures.
  K-IFRS 1118 introduces new disclosure requirements for management-defined performance measures(MPMs). MPMs are defined as subtotals of income and expenses that an entity uses in public communications outside financial statements, to communicate to users of financial statements management's view of an aspect of the financial performance of the entity as a whole, and that are not listed in paragraph 118 of K-IFRS 1118 or specifically required to be presented or disclosed by K-IFRS.

  If the Company has MPMs, it is required to disclose why such measures provide useful information, how those measures are calculated, a reconciliation between those measures and the most directly comparable subtotal specified in K-IFRS 1118, the income tax effect of each reconciling item and the effect on non-controlling interests.

- Changes in the classification of cash flows.
  In accordance with the issuance of K-IFRS 1118, certain amendments have been made to K-IFRS 1007 Statement of Cash Flows. Under these amendments, the starting point for determining net cash flows from operating activities under the indirect method has changed from profit or loss for the period to operating profit or loss, and the accounting policy choice regarding the classification of cash flows from interest and dividends has been eliminated.

K-IFRS 1118 is effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2027, with earlier application permitted. An entity is required to apply K-IFRS 1118 retrospectively in accordance with K-IFRS 1008 Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors. Accordingly, comparative information for the year ended December 31, 2027, will be restated in accordance with K-IFRS 1118. The amendments to K-IFRS 1007 and K-IFRS 1033, and the revised K-IFRS 1008 and K-IFRS 1107, resulting from the issuance of K-IFRS 1118 will become effective when K-IFRS 1118 is applied.

The Company has not applied K-IFRS 1118 because its mandatory effective date has not yet arrived, and expects to report its first interim financial statements for the annual reporting period ending December 31, 2027 in accordance with K-IFRS 1118.

Based on information available as of November 12, 2026, the Company has performed an overall preliminary assessment of the expected impact of applying K-IFRS 1118 and has identified the following potential impacts:

- Changes in the statements of financial position, profit or loss and other financial statements.
  Based on the classification of income and expenses under K-IFRS 1118, gains or losses on disposal of property, plant and equipment and impairment losses or reversals of impairment losses on property, plant and equipment and intangible assets, which are currently classified as non-operating income or expenses, will be classified in the operating category. Interest income, dividend income and the Company's share of profit or loss of associates and joint ventures are expected to be classified in the investing category, while interest expense and gains or losses on redemption of debentures are expected to be classified in the financing category. Foreign exchange differences are expected to be classified in the same category as the income and expenses arising from the items that gave rise to those foreign exchange differences.

The Company is currently reviewing the potential impact of the enactments and amendments described above on its financial statements.

3. FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT:

3.1 Financial Risk Factors

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market, credit and liquidity. The Company's overall risk management program focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimize potential adverse effects on the financial performance of the Company. The Company uses derivative financial instruments to hedge certain risk exposures.

Risk management is carried out by the Company's finance team under policies approved by the board of directors. The finance team identifies, evaluates and hedges financial risks in close cooperation with the Company's operating units. The board of directors reviews and approves written principles for overall risk management, as well as written policies covering specific areas, such as foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk and credit risk; use of derivative financial instruments and non-derivative financial instruments; and investment of excess liquidity.

(1) Market risk

1) Foreign exchange risk

The Company operates internationally and is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from foreign currency exposures, primarily with respect to the US dollar. Foreign exchange risk arises from forecast transactions and recognized assets and liabilities.

Management has set up a policy for each division of the Company to manage its foreign exchange risk against its functional currency. The Company employs personnel exclusively responsible for currency risk management and uses foreign exchange derivatives such as currency forwards and currency swaps as hedging instruments, excluding those held for trading purposes in principle.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, are as follows (Korean won in millions):

	September 30, 2026		December 31, 2025
	Assets	Liabilities	Assets	Liabilities
USD	₩ 4,530,265	₩ 11,688,680	₩ 3,468,446	₩ 9,036,409
EUR	35,826	37,652	119,511	96,739

CNY and others	82,142	30,501	233,054	36,588

With all other variables held constant as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, a hypothetical change in exchange rates by 10% would have increased (decreased) the Company's profit (loss) before income tax and equity as follows (Korean won in millions):

	September 30, 2026		December 31, 2025
	10% increase	10% decrease	10% increase	10% decrease
USD	₩ (715,841)	₩ 715,841	₩ (556,796)	₩ 556,796

CNY and others	5,164	(5,164)	19,647	(19,647)

The above sensitivity analysis has been performed for monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025.

As of September 30, 2026, the Company entered into foreign currency forwards and foreign currency swaps to hedge change in exchange rates and the details are as follows (Korean won in millions):

2) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is defined as the risk that the interest income or expenses arising from deposits and borrowings will fluctuate because of changes in future market interest rates. The interest rate risk mainly arises through floating-rate deposits and borrowings. The objective of interest rate risk management lies in maximizing corporate value by minimizing uncertainty in interest rate fluctuations and net interest expense.

The Company adequately minimizes risks from interest rate fluctuations through various policies, such as sharing excess cash within the Company (internal cash sharing), to minimize external borrowings; avoiding high-rate borrowings; reforming capital structure; managing an appropriate ratio of fixed-rate borrowings and floating-rate borrowings; monitoring a fluctuation of domestic and foreign interest rates daily, weekly and monthly; establishing alternatives; and balancing floating-rate short-term borrowings with floating-rate deposits.

The table below summarizes the impact of increases/decreases in interest on the Company's profit (loss) before income tax and equity for the period. The analysis is based on the assumption that the interest rate has increased/decreased by 1% (100 bp) with all other variables held constant (Korean won in millions).

	September 30, 2026		December 31, 2025
	1%p Increase	1%p Decrease	1%p Increase	1%p Decrease
Interest income	₩ -	₩ -	₩ 3,834	₩ (3,834)
Interest expense	(3,000)	3,000	(2,700)	2,700

3) Price risk

The Company is exposed to price risks from equity instruments. As of September 30, 2026, the fair value of equity instruments is KRW 77,120 million. With all other variables held constant, a price change in equity instruments by 10% would have changed the Company's equity by KRW 7,712 million before tax.

(2) Credit risk

Credit risk arises from trade receivables that the Company holds as well as financial assets at amortized cost.

The Company has established the following policies and procedures to manage credit risks:

To manage credit risks relating to trade receivables, the Company evaluates the credit rating of customers and determines the credit limit for each customer based on the information provided by credit rating agencies and other available financial information before commencing business with new customers. The credit risks relating to trade receivables are also mitigated by insurance contracts and collateral, as well as payment guarantees.

The Company has entered into export bond insurance contracts with Korea Trade Insurance Corporation to mitigate credit risks relating to export trade receivables to overseas customers. The Company is also provided with collateral by customers depending on their credit rating or payment guarantees from the customers' financial institutions, if necessary.

The Company has deposited its cash and cash equivalents and other long-term deposits in several financial institutions, such as Woori Bank and others. The Company has also entered into derivative contracts with several financial institutions. The Company maintains business relationships with financial institutions with high credit ratings evaluated by independent credit rating agencies and, accordingly, credit risks associated with these financial institutions are limited.

1) Trade receivables

The Company applies the simplified approach in measuring expected credit losses, which uses lifetime expected provisions for trade receivables. To measure the expected credit losses, trade receivables have been grouped based on shared credit risk characteristics and days past due.

For the nine-month period ended September 30, 2026, and for the year ended December 31, 2025, there were no changes in the provisions for trade receivables.

As of September 30, 2026, the carrying amount of trade receivables representing the maximum exposure to credit risk amounts to KRW 1,809,018 million (as of December 31, 2025, KRW1,854,466 million).

2) Other financial assets at amortized cost

All of the financial assets at amortized cost are considered to have low credit risk, and the provisions recognized during the period were, therefore, limited to 12 months' expected losses. As of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, the provision for other financial assets measured at amortized cost does not exist.

3) Debt instruments measured at FVOCI

Debt instruments measured at FVOCI include trade receivables to be discounted. The provisions for these instruments are recognized in profit or loss for the current quarter and reduce the amount that would have been recognized in other comprehensive income as a loss on fair value change.

(3) Liquidity risk

The finance team of the Company monitors rolling forecasts of the Company's liquidity requirements to ensure it has sufficient cash to meet operational needs, while maintaining the limit of unused borrowings at an appropriate level so that the Company does not breach borrowing limits or covenants (where applicable) on any of its borrowing facilities. The Company's liquidity management policy considers the Company's financing plans; covenants on the debt contracts; target financial ratios; and, if applicable, other external regulatory requirements on the currency and others.

1) The table below analyzes the Company financial liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period from the reporting date to the contractual maturity date. The Company is not exposed to significant liquidity risk arising from supplier financing arrangements, as the amount of liabilities subject to these arrangements is limited, and the Company can obtain alternative financing under similar terms.

2) As of September 30, 2026 and December 31, 2025, the Company has entered into swap and futures contracts, to which cash flow hedge accounting is applied, to avoid fluctuations in the market price of raw materials as follows (Korean won in millions):

(*1) Gain (loss) on the contracts that hedge the cash flow risk of forecast transaction is recognized in accumulated other comprehensive income and is fully effective portion for hedging.

(*2) Gain (loss) on the futures contracts that hedge the cash flow risk of forecast transactions incurred some hedge ineffectiveness arising from changes in value due to differences in price indices and term structures between the hedging instrument and the hedged item.

As of September 30, 2026, the total limit amount of committed payment guarantee is KRW 11,304,486 million (as of December 31, 2025, was KRW 12,026,096million) (see Note 18).

3.2 Capital Risk Management

The Company's objectives for managing capital are to safeguard its ability to continue providing profits to shareholders and other stakeholders as a going concern and to maintain an optimal capital structure to reduce the cost of capital.

Consistent with others in the industry, the Company monitors capital on the basis of the gearing ratio. This ratio is calculated as net debt divided by total capital. Net debt is calculated as total borrowings, less cash and cash equivalents. Total capital is calculated as 'equity,' as shown in the interim condensed separate statements of financial position, plus net debt.

The gearing ratio and debt-to-equity ratio as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, are as follows (Korean won in millions):

	September 30, 2026	December 31, 2025
Total borrowings (Note 14) (A)	₩ 13,791,202	₩ 12,521,303

(*) Fair values for these financial assets and liabilities are not disclosed above as their carrying amounts are a reasonable approximation of their fair values.

(2) Fair values for measurement and disclosure are determined based on the following method:

Fair values of financial liabilities (non-current) are calculated by discounting the expected cash outflows by yield of the Company's Korean won-denominated corporate bonds with the specified credit rating (AA0). The applied discount rates as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, are as follows:

	September 30, 2026	December 31, 2025
Discount rate	4.10% ~ 5.53%	3.05% ~ 4.52%

(3) Fair value hierarchy

Items that are measured at fair value are categorized by the fair value hierarchy levels, and the defined levels are as follows:

- Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date (Level 1)
- All inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable (either directly, i.e., prices, or indirectly, i.e., derived from prices) for the asset or liability (Level 2)
- Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability (Level 3)

4. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND ASSUMPTIONS:

The preparation of interim condensed separate financial statements requires the Company to make estimates and assumptions concerning the future. Management also needs to exercise judgment in applying the Company's accounting policies. Estimates and assumptions are continually evaluated and are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. The resulting accounting estimates may differ from the related actual results.

The significant estimates and assumptions made by management on the application of the Company's interim condensed separate financial statements are the same as those of the annual separate financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2025.

The following are management's estimates and assumptions for its judgements regarding significant risks that may result in adjustments to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the next fiscal year:

(1) Income taxes

If a certain portion of the taxable income is not used for investments, increases in wages and others, the Company is liable to pay additional income tax calculated based on tax laws. Accordingly, the measurement of current and deferred income taxes is affected by these tax effects. As the Company's income tax is dependent on investments, increase in wages and dividends, there is uncertainty in measuring the final tax effects.

(2) Provisions

The Company recognizes provisions for product warranties as explained in Note 15. These provisions are estimated based on the average warranty period, revenue and historical claim experience rate. Provisions related to voluntary recalls by the Company's customers are estimated based on the number of vehicles subject to recall, estimated total repair cost and cost-sharing ratio.

(3) Fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined using valuation techniques. The Company uses its judgment to select a variety of methods and make assumptions that are mainly based on market conditions existing at September 30, 2026 (see Note 3.3).

(4) Impairment of financial assets

The provision for impairment of financial assets is based on assumptions about risk of default and expected loss rates. The Company uses judgment in making these assumptions and selecting the inputs for the impairment calculation based on its past experience and existing market conditions, as well as forward-looking estimates at the end of each reporting period (see Note 3.1.(2)).

(5) Net defined benefit liability (asset)

The present value of the net defined benefit liability (asset) depends on a number of factors that are determined on an actuarial basis using a number of assumptions, including the discount rate (see Note 16).

(6) Lease

In determining the lease term, management considers all facts and circumstances that create an economic incentive to exercise an extension option or not to exercise a termination option. Periods covered by the extension option (or the termination option) are only included in the lease term if the lease is reasonably certain to be extended (or not terminated).

The lease term is reassessed if an option is actually exercised (or not exercised) or the Company becomes obliged to exercise (or not exercise) it. The assessment of reasonable certainty is only revised if a significant event or a significant change in circumstances occurs, which affects this assessment, and that is within the control of the lessee.

(*) Changes in fair value are recognized in profit or loss or in other comprehensive income.

(3) Supplier financing arrangements

Supplier financing arrangements involve one or more financial institutions providing amounts that the Company is obligated to pay to the supplier. The Company then reimburses the financial institutions according to the terms of the arrangement after the supplier has received the payment. These arrangements typically provide the Company with an extended payment term beyond the supplier's payment due date or allow the supplier to receive payment earlier than expected.

As of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025, the Company has entered into the following supplier financing arrangements (Korean won in millions):

	September 30, 2026	December 31, 2025
Liabilities classified as accounts payable and other liabilities:
The carrying amounts of accounts payable and other liabilities corresponding to supplier financing agreements (*)	₩ 257,515	₩ 760,567
The carrying amounts of accounts payable and other liabilities corresponding to the portion for which the supplier has already received payment from the financial provider	₩ 9,113	₩ 476,776

(*) Under the purchase card and B2B procurement arrangements, the financial institution acquires certain trade receivables from the supplier. Although the purchase card arrangement modifies the timing of payment, the terms of the Company's liability are not substantively altered. Accordingly, the related balances continue to be presented within accounts payable and other liabilities in the statements of financial position. In the statements of cash flows, as the Company is not a party to the cash flows between the financial institution and the supplier and the substance of the liability remains unchanged, subsequent payments to the financial institution are treated as ordinary settlement of trade payables and are presented as cash outflows from operating activities.

The payment term ranges for financial liabilities under supplier financing agreements and for comparable purchase liabilities not under supplier financing agreements are as follows:

	The purchase card	B2B
Liabilities classified as accounts payable and other liabilities:
The payment due date range for accounts payable covered by the supplier financing agreement	Within approximately 90 days from the payment date	Within 90 days from the end of the billing month
The range of payment dates for comparable accounts payable that are not supplier financing agreements	Within 60 days from the end of the billing month	Within 90 days from the end of the billing month

There were no significant business combinations or exchange rate differences affecting the supplier financing liabilities. The supplier financing liabilities are short term, and their carrying amounts are considered to be a reasonable approximation of fair value.

(4) Operating lease

Investment properties are leased to tenants under operating leases with monthly rent payments. Where considered necessary to reduce credit risk, the Company may obtain bank guarantees for the term of the lease.

Although the Company is exposed to changes in the residual value at the end of the current leases, it typically enters into new operating leases and, therefore, will not immediately realize any reduction in residual value at the end of these leases. Expectations about the future residual values are reflected in the fair value of investment properties.
